

Fier Status

Can you believe it the year is coming to an end!? After a hot summer a cold winter has come. I just am one year older I guess every one of us is one year older☺. I guess when you become older the way that you see life is different year to year. I am amazed and sometimes it's weird to me how I have changed so far especially of this time on waiting for the baby. Every one of us has his/her goals in life and achieving those goals is one of purposes but one thing is more important and meaningful is "being responsible" and you can apply in every area of life we can see that make sense have this goal being responsible to one another, to the goods that God has blessed us with and most important is being responsible to the Salvation that God has granted us with. As you can see some way somehow I just started to be more responsible, some might say finally, but I thank God that I can see and take the turn of being changed on His Own Image through Jesus Christ.

Being More Responsible...

As we are on the Field of God we try to be responsible and showing it with others, as have been sharing with you; we try to build redemptive relationships, and for that reason it takes to be out with people. And we try to manage the time with friends and with family too. We try to go back to our parents too and spent some time with them I guess that is part of building redemptive relationships too showing to them that you are different and more responsible than you were before. There are many cases here that we have dealt with that if try to wrote them all it would be a long report, but by summarizing, telling guys on our age, that they have to be more responsible for their families they have to provide for their family, they have to protect their family, not hanging out on the bars doing nothing and complaining that there is not a place where to work, it is hard for all at this times at least trying to be more responsible will bring good at the family and not making the situation worse than it is.

Bible Class

We have changed our Bible class on Thursday since it's more convenient for the members to be "together studying God's word. Well we are now studying a new topic on the character of Jacob, about the Blessing of God, and he is teaching it on Narrative, he is doing a good job on telling as narrative and making the points that we should learn on this story. We studied to whom is blessing? And who really receives the blessing.

Sunday Worship Service

We give thanks to the Lord for allowing us to be together and Worship Him, We give thanks that we are part of the family that He Jesus Christ bought with blood.
